Contracting opportunities with Amtech Certified SBA and WBE

As a WBE based in New Jersey with extensive experience in both information technology as well as State, County, and Municipal government, Amtech is looking to partner up with your firm with top quality technical products and technical development and support services.

With our rich Nineteen (19) year history and track record in the technology industry, you can be assured that we have far reaching experience that many of our competitors can only dream of. Besides general Information products and technology support, Amtech provides Programming, Training and Staffing services, We have had extensive experience in many different industries and capacities providing technical support services and productivity training for many corporate and government accounts.

Amtech has two WBE companies, both with the same ownership that you may wish to subcontract with in the following capacities as outlined below. As WBE's are recognized by the State as disadvantaged businesses, the Federal Government does not recognize them as such. This is why our opportunities are more limited to NJ interests and why we are looking to team up with your firm.
